Wedding show makes return to city centre

COUPLES who have had to postpone their nuptials will be delighted that the Scottish Wedding Show is returning to Glasgow.

The show will be held at the SEC on February 19 and 20, and it is hoped that it will boost the wedding industry after so many delays and cancellations of ceremonies over the pandemic.

Hosting more than 200 wedding suppliers, the exhibition will feature catwalk shows showcasing bridal and groomsware, flower arranging and a cocktail bar.

The show promises to bring a host of ideas and tips for those planning their big day, with music via the Live Band Showcase and the Field of Dreams inspiring couples dreaming of outdoor ceremonies.

Tickets are available to book online now from £14 for entry only and £30 for VIP tickets.

Catwalk tickets are available for £3.50, visitors must also have a valid entry ticket.
