Love was in the air on Valentine's Day yesterday as the race was officially launched for the 2022 Scottish Wedding Show, as the event prepares to make its return to the SEC in Glasgow for the first time since 2020.

Scotland's biggest wedding show takes place at the Scottish Event Campus (SEC) in Glasgow this weekend after being forced to take a break due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The event, which has been running in Glasgow since 2002, brings together the country's top wedding suppliers under one roof and is the place to be for brides and grooms who are planning their big day.
